

JAPS STRENGTHEN DEFENSES IN MANCHURIA

The War Today..

Mr. Churchill

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP War Analyst

ENGLAND'S forthcoming general election—the first in 10 years—will be a momentous affair in several ways but especially because it involves the question of how far John Bull has been affected by the European swing to the "left."

A lot can happen in a decade, and there has been a great change in the political complexion of many continental countries. This has been particularly marked in recent months as the Germans have been ejected from occupied states.

As might be expected, Russia's great success at arms has provided the Communist cells in the various nations propaganda to promote their crusades. Communism is playing a considerable part in the "leftist" trend which has been registered clear across Europe to the English channel.

How much of the leftist influence has hoped across the 20 miles of water into traditionally conservative Britain? We shall get an idea of the tendency from this election, although the situation is complicated by war-time considerations.

The main battle will be between the Conservative party under leadership of Prime Minister Churchill and the Socialist (or labor) party. The latter has come out for the establishment of "a Socialist commonwealth of Great Britain" which would call for sweeping nationalization of industry and far reaching public ownership.

There will be other political elements involved in the election, including the Communists, and the Conservatives (to whom the Socialists refer as Tories) and the Socialists are the chief contestants. The Conservatives have a large majority in the present House of Commons, but the cabinet is a coalition which was formed under Churchill for the prosecution of the war.

The Conservatives have a 12-point program which includes the pledge of British support in the war against Japan and urges cooperation with America and Russia in maintaining peace. It also calls for vigorous development of the empire for the benefit of all its peoples, and stands for "the fullest opportunity for individual initiative."

The Socialists claim they can win a majority in the election. Churchill obviously will have at least two very strong assets as he goes to the country. One will be his great war leadership, and the other will be in the fact that if he is defeated now it will mean "changing horses in the middle of the stream," that is, before the war in the Pacific has been concluded. His supporters will maintain that it will be unwise to remove him from the councils of the "Big Three" at such a critical juncture in world affairs.

Churchill may be expected to wage a tough fight. He is by far

ESCAPES AT PRISON FARM; ARRESTED HERE

Frank Rohn, an escaped prisoner from the Sandusky prison farm, was taken into custody here when he gave himself up to Patrolmen Howard Forney and Martin Lutsch on S. Broadway last night.

Rohn told police he had left the prison farm early yesterday morning. He will be turned over to officials from the farm, police said.

Churchill Resigns; Wartime Coalition Government Ended

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, May 23.—Prime Minister Churchill resigned today, breaking up Great Britain's wartime coalition government and giving the signal for the nation's first general election in a decade.

Churchill was expected, on request of King George VI, to form a temporary government immediately to serve as "caretakers" until after the election, probably July 5. Three weeks will elapse before the King formally dissolves the heavily conservative parliament.

Labor ministers, who have served in the coalition cabinet since 1940, were given a mandate by their party earlier this week to resign if an election was forced at this time. Labor is the second most numerous party.

Churchill is expected to lead a new "care taker" government into commons when it reassembles Tuesday.

The British press association predicted the new government would include such men as Sir John Anderson, Sir James Grigg, Sir Andrew Cunanan and Lord Leathers, who were prewar business men without political backgrounds. All were called into the government to do special jobs.

The full list is not expected to be ready before Sunday or Monday, as Churchill will need the intervening time to fill vacancies left by the departure of labor and liberal ministers.

Gives Up Three Offices

Churchill, who led Britain from its most desperate days of the war to the unconditional surrender of Germany, gave King George his resignation at noon as prime minister, first lord of the treasury and minister of defense.

His action will bring about Great Britain's first general election in 10 years. He had held the office since May 10, 1940, when he succeeded Neville Chamberlain during some of the darkest days of the war.

Churchill's resignation was precipitated by the Labor party's refusal to continue in the coalition government, now that Germany is defeated.

An old-fashioned political campaign already was underway, with the opposition press lampooning the prime minister.

The general expectation was that the election would be held July 5 and that Churchill would remain at the head of a "caretaker" government until the new parliament was seated. The election will be held with Mr. Churchill at the peak of his popularity as leader of the government at the time of victory in Europe.

In the last election in 1935, the voters returned 431 Conservatives to commons. Churchill is leader of the Conservative party. The second largest group is the Labor party, led by Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Work Stoppage At Pottery Continues

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 23.—A work stoppage at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. plant in nearby Newell, W. Va., entered its second day today and threatened to make all 850 employees of the company idle.

The stoppage, which the management termed an illegal lockout and union officials claimed was a lockout, began yesterday and immediately affected some 300 employees. It followed the discharge of a kiln placer from Sebring who had been hired recently.

Company representatives said the man was unable to produce a release from his previous place of employment, which they claimed necessary under terms of their agreement with the AFL-National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery. Brotherhood officials claimed the company violated their wage contract by denying the man the right to accept an open position.

Prisoner of War Mail To Europe Is Returned

No mail of any kind addressed to American or other Allied prisoners of war in Europe is accepted for mailing, it was announced today by Postmaster A. E. Beardmore.

This does not apply to mail for prisoners of war in the Far East, which may be accepted as previously instructed.

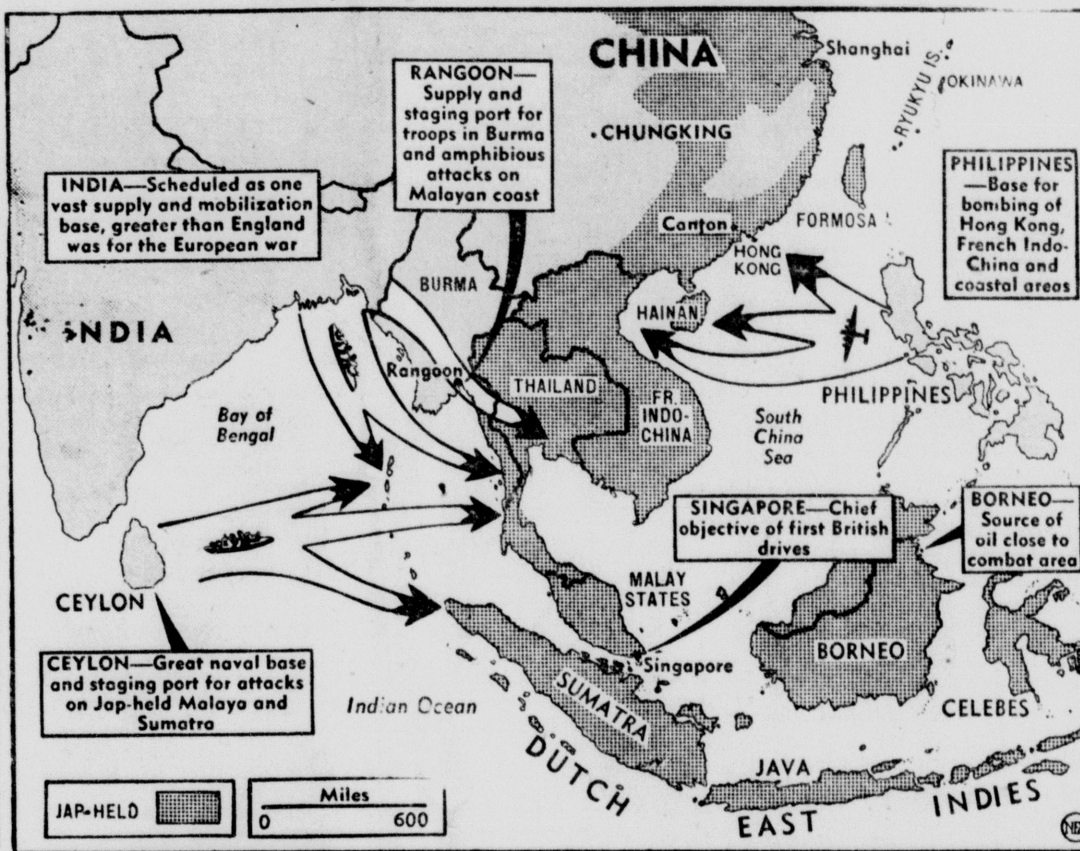

Any mail deposited which is addressed to American or other Allied prisoners of war in Europe, will be returned to the senders by the offices of mailing.

Because of the liberation of American and other Allied prisoners of war in Europe, much mail heretofore sent to them cannot be delivered and the War department has directed that it will be returned to the senders.

Everything Points to Trouble for Japs

Map above shows how things are shaping up in the southeast Asia theater of the war against Japan, with all signs pointing to more headaches for the foe. Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allies' overall chieftain in the Southwest Asia Command, is rapidly augmenting his land, air and sea forces for a slashing offensive.

ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR DINNER DANCE OF ALUMNI GROUP

Although a speaker for the 63rd annual Salem High school alumni banquet has not been secured as yet, definite arrangements for the balance of the program are completed. Neil Grisez, president of the association, announced today.

The dinner-dance will be held at the Masonic temple, Friday, June 1, and tickets for the affair went on sale today at downtown outlets.

The dinner, at which members of the class of 1945 will be honored and welcomed into the association, will be at 6:30, and the dance will follow that program.

Fred E. Cope is chairman of the dance committee and Grisez is handling arrangements for the dinner program. Several classes are planning special reunions at the dinner. The annual business meeting of the association will be held at the High school auditorium at 2:30 that afternoon.

Other officers of the association include: First vice president, Joe M. Kelley; second vice president, Charles Bennett; secretary, Mrs. Galen Wilt; assistant secretary, Jean Olmhausen; treasurer, Richard Speidel; and assistant treasurer, Eleanor McMurray; executive committee, Vincent Judge chairman; Harold Shears, Florence Jane Votaw, Elwood Hammill and Mrs. Dale Thompson.

On the nomination committee, of which Mrs. D. E. Parks is chairman, are Robert Rheutan and Mrs. Norman Kyle.

4 E. Palestine Youths Hurt When Train Hits Automobile

Four East Palestine eighth grade students were injured—two critically—at 1:10 a. m. today when a Model A Ford sedan in which they were riding was literally sliced in two by a westbound passenger train at the Pittsburgh st. crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad in Columbiana.

A fifth youth, James Davis, 15, who was driving the car, was uninjured but the others were brought to the Salem City hospital.

Betty Straley, 16, who suffered a serious concussion and internal injuries. Her condition is reported as "very serious." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Straley of East Palestine.

Sara Jane Wilson, 14, who is reported in serious condition at the hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson of East Palestine.

Robert G. Figley, 14, who suffered minor cuts and abrasions of the face and body. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Figley of East Palestine.

William A. Aldrich, Jr., 14, who suffered bruises and abrasions of the face. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Aldrich of East Palestine.

Motor Is Torn Loose Marshal Barney Miller of Columbiana said the car in which the youngsters were riding after having attended their eighth grade promotion ceremonies in East Palestine was cut in two at the windshield by the speeding train.

The motor and front section of the car were carried 150 feet down the tracks by the train, which stopped following the accident. The remaining after section of the auto was left upright where struck, although four of the five passengers were thrown out of the car by the impact. One girl is reported to have been thrown nearly 70 feet.

The crossing is protected only by a bell signal.

The auto in which the youngsters were celebrating their "graduation" was an old vehicle, belonging to Robert Peters, an East Palestine grocer. The grocer had loaned the car to Davis for the evening. It had been used as a delivery truck for the grocery store. Marshal Miller said the car was a complete wreck.

From the position of the car when it was struck Miller believed the youngsters had just pulled onto the tracks as they saw the train bearing down on them.

Included in the train, which was halted for nearly an hour after the accident, were four coaches filled with Army troops and several other regular passenger coaches.

Army Demand For Eggs May Cause Shortage A shortage of eggs loomed today as it was revealed that the Army had asked for 6,000,000 cases immediately for the armed forces.

The Northeast Ohio Poultry association, which has plants at Columbiana and Garrettsville, has been asked to set aside 60 per cent of its output for the government for the next 10 weeks. The association has been asked to furnish 650 cases a week.

Distributors say the order will drastically curtail egg supplies.

Lieut. McCready Safe After Liberation

Second Lieut. Eugene W. McCready who has been a prisoner of war in Germany since Sept. 22, was liberated from Stalag I some time ago, he informed his mother, Mrs. Anna McCready of E. Fourth st., in a letter received by the family this morning.

In the letter, dated May 8, he stated that he hoped to be home by the time the letter reached Salem. He said he was well and had been given good treatment by the Russians.

Lieut. McCready was reported lost in a mission over Germany on Oct. 5. His mother is seriously ill at the Central Clinic.

COLUMBIANA, May 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Everett, Court st., have received word from their son, Pfc. Sheldon Everett, that he has been liberated from a German prison camp.

The letter stated that he was free, in good health and happy. Pfc. Everett entered the service in March, 1942, and went overseas in April, 1943. He was taken prisoner last Dec. 2.

ARRESTS END NAZI REGIME

Doenitz Is Believed Among Flensburg Government Officials Seized

(By Associated Press) SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 23.—Supreme headquarters announced today the arrest of all members of the so-called Flensburg government and an official source said.

FLensburg, Germany, May 23.—Russian intelligence reports today that Hitler died in a mercy killing.

source said this meant that henceforth Allied officers would deal directly with the German people and German prisoners.

Members of the high command in Flensburg were taken into custody along with the government figures as prisoners of war, it was announced. This means the dispersal of the high command, the official source said.

Those arrested included 300 officers, and a number of other ranks and civilians, the announcement said.

(Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who succeeded Hitler as fuhrer, presumably was among those arrested as a prisoner of war.)

Biddle Successor Soon To Be Named

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 23.—Attorney General Francis Biddle's early retirement from the Truman cabinet was indicated at the White House today.

The President arranged a news conference for 4 p. m. and Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman would have an announcement at that time concerning Biddle, who submitted his resignation along with other hold-over Roosevelt cabinet members the night of April 12.

Ross' opinion that the resignation was in the President's hands and that the President would make an announcement regarding it left little doubt that the President would disclose the appointment of a new attorney general this afternoon.

Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwel-lenbach of the state of Washington, a former United States senator, has been mentioned for a top cabinet post in Capitol Hill speculation.

FLensburg, Germany, May 23.—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, successor to Hitler, was arrested today by Allied Supreme headquarters, which ordered his Reich "government" disbanded.

YANKS CRACK ENEMY LINES ON OKINAWA

Fearful of Russia's Japs Send New Troops In to Manchuria

BY LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

The eastern anchor of Japan's stubborn Okinawa defense line crumbled today under a surprise American infantry attack as a U. S. communique from China lent support to reports Japanese troops were being withdrawn from North China coastal areas to Manchuria, long-established Nipponese bulwark facing the Soviet Union.

Diplomatic circles in Moscow commented Japanese apparently showed unfounded optimism when they reported the Mikado's government was on "completely friendly terms with the Soviet Union."

China-based pilots of the U. S. 14th air force bombed troop trains and columns apparently headed toward Manchuria.

The break on the Okinawa line carried a pre-dawn attack, launched without artillery or tank support, through Yonabaru town to hills overlooking Yonabaru bay and the northern end of a curving ridge dominating Nakagusuku bay, former Nipponese fleet anchorage.

Philippine Gains Yanks in the southern Philippines captured a provincial capital against light opposition and knocked out a key defensive ridge in the Manila watershed with a novel fire-bomb and flame-throwing tank attack.

A small, pocketed Japanese force was annihilated in the Burma campaign, and successes reported on four China fronts.

From Europe came reports that the flood of American troops bound for the Pacific would reach the strength of 12 divisions in June and British forces would be flying by the thousands to Southeast Asia "in a few months."

Japanese broadcasts concentrated on worry about lack of unity on the threatened home front, the possibly growing peace sentiment.

The Seventh division, after a two weeks' rest, made the mile-long Okinawa advance yesterday.

Yonabaru, second largest city on Okinawa and the largest town on the island to fall, was overrun.

Thin Jap Lines Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold of the Seventh said the thinning Japanese line was stretched by 4,000 yards. This nearly doubled the front to be defended against the Tenth army.

Shoving off in a driving rain the infantrymen pushed through the ruins of Yonabaru unopposed except by sniper fire. Defense mounted steadily during the day until the Yanks were meeting steady machinegun and anti-tank fire, directed at them from dominating heights.

Chief gain in the Philippines was the seizure of Malabaly, provincial capital, in interior Mindanao, by the 31st division as it neared a junction with the 40th and American divisions.

First cavalry division troops, supported by PT boats, seized Port Real on eastern Luzon island.

Which Needed No Demonstrating

In a story on the United Nations security talks at San Francisco appears this typical sentence: "American military authorities were understood to feel that the security arrangements offer full protection to the United States, regardless of how the projected league works out."

That summarizes the progress made in three weeks of work on postwar security. The nations still hope for the best. Meanwhile, they are looking after their own security, "regardless of how the projected league works out." That is what Russia has been doing. It is what Britain is doing. France is doing it. (French troops recently landed in Syria and Lebanon.) It is what the United States and its neighbors in this hemisphere are doing.

It does not mean the San Francisco meeting has failed. It does not mean that the dream of cooperative security, which could have come true if the nations all believed in the same thing, isn't going to come true. San Francisco has turned into just another international parley. The nations are hoping something really fine may come out of it, but they are not counting on it.

Governments are making it plain to their people as gently as possible that the stubborn facts of 1945 have less to do with guarantees of permanent peace than with the enigmatic practices of Soviet Russia; that the principles of the Atlantic Charter, like the principles of Christianity, are more often preached about than practiced; that there still is only a bare minimum of the good faith among nations which is the only thing that can guarantee peace. But given good faith, the nations could take peace for granted. There would be no need for meetings to discuss their common misgivings about one another's motives. San Francisco merely has pointed up the misgivings, without revealing any way to overcome them.

Okinawa

One of the strategic hills being fought with American blood on Okinawa has been named Two, after the costly battle for that island. It is now a certainty that the battle of Okinawa, with much more at stake—a base for the invasion of Japan itself—is one of the turning points in the Pacific war.

Its official importance was disclosed early this month in Fred M. Vinson's report, "The War: Phase Two," stating the views of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. Japan has two great strengths, he declared—the willingness of its soldiers to die, and its geographical position. "Our nearest large harbor," explained Director Vinson, "is in the Philippine Islands." Then he added: "Okinawa, only 325 miles south of Kyushu (southernmost Japanese island) has anchorages but no harbor facilities of importance."

The battle for possession of Okinawa as a base for conclusive operations against Japan began April 2. It has been the costliest campaign of the war with Japan, and it isn't over yet. When the first landings were made, the war in Europe was still raging; their importance was obscured by seemingly greater events. But now, with Germany defeated, the battle of Okinawa is getting the attention it deserves. It is the counterpart in the Pacific war of the invasion of Normandy in Europe, 11 months before Germany's final collapse.

National Maritime Day

With the twelfth observance of National Maritime day on May 22, it once again becomes this country's privilege to salute the men and women who build and sail our merchant ships.

The wartime story of the United States Merchant Marine is one of a magnificent contribution to victory. It becomes perhaps even more inspiring in retrospect, as we look back upon the dangerous inadequacy of our merchant fleet at the time of Pearl Harbor, and remember the submarine- and plane-infested waters which for so long complicated the tremendous task of supplying the fronts beyond two oceans.

Since December of 1941 our shipyards have built more than 4,000 cargo ships and have increased the American merchant fleet's deadweight tonnage more than five-fold. Today this fleet is carrying war materials at the rate of 8,000 tons an hour, every hour of the day and every day of the year.

It is this fleet which is now tackling what will certainly be the greatest job of its kind in history, the shipping or transshipping from this country and Britain of supplies for an armed force of perhaps 10,000,000 men in the Pacific theater—nearly 7,000 miles from San Francisco, 14,000 miles from England by way of Panama, and 17,500 from England through the Suez canal.

And it is this fleet that will make us, at the end of the war, the world's greatest maritime power. In 1939 the United States ranked second to Great Britain with about 11,000,000 deadweight tons of shipping. We now have more than two-thirds of the world's pre-war tonnage of 74,000,000.

Our new position is a problem as well as a matter of pride. We can, as the British ambassador, Lord Halifax, said in a speech last fall, "turn the economic life of the world into a mad scramble. . . . We can spend some feverish years of jungle life in a cut-throat war of international trade. . . . of stealing each other's customers and blackening each other's faces until another Hitler arises to exploit the miseries of the people and multiply them ten-fold by another war."

"On the other hand," Lord Halifax said, "if we can handle these large matters with sufficient foresight, there will be enough on the plate for everybody."

They are large matters, indeed, affecting domestic employment, international relations, world trade and world prosperity. And this country's plan for seeing that there is enough on the plate for everybody has not yet taken concrete form.

But the Maritime Commission has promised that we shall not use our fleet to the detriment of the legitimate needs of other nations whose life blood is international commerce. At the same time, it seems right and necessary that we do not abandon this phase of international leadership which this country has so industriously and courageously earned.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, May 24.

THE ASTRAL auguries for this day point to the prospect of effective work for future rewards and comforts, with enduring and safe foundations for years ahead. But sound plans with concrete and constructive ways of putting them into execution, attention to details together with a sense of obligation and responsibility, personal as well as public, are recommended. It might be well to look for shrewd or subtle undercurrents or sources, and wisely to sidestep too tricky, involved or alluring plans or propositions. Sign writings carefully.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which there may be a solidification of assets, talents, resources and opportunities for putting the future and its fortunes on a safe and enduring basis. This by application, concentrated effort, in developing practical plans or policies, with wise sense of duty and obligation both to public, self and social or domestic dependencies. Clever, unusual or shrewd ideas might be worked out simply and carefully, but with an eye to treacherous entanglements or commitments, particularly with writings or agreements. Keep alert to hidden factors or subtleties.

Congressional Junkets

President Truman is reported to have given the green light on the congressional junkets to Europe and while the "join the Congress and see the world" excursions add another item to the taxpayers' war bill, we would say that they are a good investment nevertheless.

The job of Congress today goes far beyond taking care of constituents' wants and doing a little reciprocal log-rolling. Regional thinking and regional zeal are still an important part of a congressman's duties, but that shouldn't monopolize his time and attention, as they usually can do.

So we think it would be highly beneficial if every congressman could see just what war has done, could meet the survivors of Nazi prison camps, examine the war's awful aftermath of hunger and homelessness, get reports on Europe's complex politics from European statesmen, and check up on the overseas operation of such government agencies as OWI.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Infectious Disease With Various Symptoms

By HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M. D.

DISEASES often have signs and symptoms which are quite similar. Hence, it becomes a difficult matter to tell one of these disorders from another. This is true of a condition known as infectious mononucleosis which occurs rather frequently and the symptoms of which are much like those of other disorders. Thus, Doctor William H. Walker of the Medical Corps of the United States Army, reports that of 29 cases of infectious mononucleosis which he saw in a period of a year, only three had been correctly diagnosed.

Infectious Mononucleosis

In infectious mononucleosis, the symptoms may fall into six different groups. In one there may be sore throat, dry cough and pain under the breastbone. In another type there may be high fever up to 105 which lasts for from one to three weeks. In still another group there may be a skin rash. In other patients the symptoms may affect the nervous system particularly with persistent headache, and in the last variety there may be diarrhea, vomiting and pain in the abdomen. Doctor Walker does not believe that infectious mononucleosis is a harmless disease, but states that complications may occur such as sinus infection, middle ear infection and what is known as atypical pneumonia produced probably by a virus, which is an organism so small that it can pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.

Blood Serum Test

In making a diagnosis of infectious mononucleosis, a test known as the Paul-Bunnell test is employed. This is a test which is carried out by using the blood cells from a sheep and mixing them with the blood serum from the sick person. If infectious mononucleosis is present, the blood serum of the patient will agglutinate or clump.

Other symptoms which may be present in infectious mononucleosis consist of enlargement of the spleen, an increase in the number of white cells in the blood and weakness. Sometimes abnormal forms of white cells may be present. In so far as treatment is concerned, Doctor Walker thinks that sulfadiazine given by mouth will speed up recovery by having a favorable effect on the throat infection which is present in many cases. This treatment with sulfadiazine should be continued for from one to two weeks beyond the acute stage of the disease. This will help in preventing recurrent nose, throat, and lung infections, as well as other complications.

Infectious mononucleosis is one of those disorders which must be diagnosed by the doctor and once it is found to be present, should be vigorously treated by him.

Tubbs Elected Delegate To K. of C. Convention

Robert Tubbs of Salem, district deputy of the Knights of Columbus, was elected a state delegate to the supreme convention, which will be held in August, when a state meeting was held Sunday in Columbus.

Tubbs, past grand knight of Salem council, has held this district office for six years, the first one to hold it for that long a period. The district is comprised of Salem, Leontonia and East Palestine.

Grand Knight Ralph Whiteleather of the Salem council and Grand Knight John Kalafus of the Leontonia council also attended the state meeting. Whiteleather gave his report to the local council Monday night. The state gathering next year will be at Cincinnati.

At its meeting next Monday night Salem council will nominate officers for the coming year.

Salem and Alliance councils will exemplify the second and third degrees at a meeting Sunday afternoon, June 24, in Alliance.

Which Needed No Demonstrating

In a story on the United Nations security talks at San Francisco appears this typical sentence: "American military authorities were understood to feel that the security arrangements offer full protection to the United States, regardless of how the projected league works out."

That summarizes the progress made in three weeks of work on postwar security. The nations still hope for the best. Meanwhile, they are looking after their own security, "regardless of how the projected league works out." That is what Russia has been doing. It is what Britain is doing. France is doing it. (French troops recently landed in Syria and Lebanon.) It is what the United States and its neighbors in this hemisphere are doing.

It does not mean the San Francisco meeting has failed. It does not mean that the dream of cooperative security, which could have come true if the nations all believed in the same thing, isn't going to come true. San Francisco has turned into just another international parley. The nations are hoping something really fine may come out of it, but they are not counting on it.

Governments are making it plain to their people as gently as possible that the stubborn facts of 1945 have less to do with guarantees of permanent peace than with the enigmatic practices of Soviet Russia; that the principles of the Atlantic Charter, like the principles of Christianity, are more often preached about than practiced; that there still is only a bare minimum of the good faith among nations which is the only thing that can guarantee peace. But given good faith, the nations could take peace for granted. There would be no need for meetings to discuss their common misgivings about one another's motives. San Francisco merely has pointed out the misgivings, without revealing any way to overcome them.

Okinawa

One of the strategic hills being fought with American blood on Okinawa has been named Two, after the costly battle for that island. It is now a certainty that the battle of Okinawa, with much more at stake—a base for the invasion of Japan itself—is one of the turning points in the Pacific war.

Its official importance was disclosed early this month in Fred M. Vinson's report, "The War: Phase Two," stating the views of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction. Japan has two great strengths, he declared—the willingness of its soldiers to die, and its geographical position. "Our nearest large harbor," explained Director Vinson, "is in the Philippine Islands." Then he added: "Okinawa, only 325 miles south of Kyushu (southernmost Japanese island) has anchorages but no harbor facilities of importance."

The battle for possession of Okinawa as a base for conclusive operations against Japan began April 2. It has been the costliest campaign of the war with Japan, and it isn't over yet. When the first landings were made, the war in Europe was still raging; their importance was obscured by seemingly greater events. But now, with Germany defeated, the battle of Okinawa is getting the attention it deserves. It is the counterpart in the Pacific war of the invasion of Normandy in Europe, 11 months before Germany's final collapse.

National Maritime Day

With the twelfth observance of National Maritime day on May 22, it once again becomes this country's privilege to salute the men and women who build and sail our merchant ships.

The wartime story of the United States Merchant Marine is one of a magnificent contribution to victory. It becomes perhaps even more inspiring in retrospect, as we look back upon the dangerous inadequacy of our merchant fleet at the time of Pearl Harbor, and remember the submarine and plane-infested waters which for so long complicated the tremendous task of supplying the fronts beyond two oceans.

Since December of 1941 our shipyards have built more than 4,000 cargo ships and have increased the American merchant fleet's deadweight tonnage more than five-fold. Today this fleet is carrying war materials at the rate of 8,000 tons an hour, every hour of the day and every day of the year.

It is this fleet which is now tackling what will certainly be the greatest job of its kind in history, the shipping or transshipping from this country and Britain of supplies for an armed force of perhaps 10,000,000 men in the Pacific theater—nearly 7,000 miles from San Francisco, 14,000 miles from England by way of Panama, and 17,500 from England through the Suez canal.

And it is this fleet that will make us, at the end of the war, the world's greatest maritime power. In 1939 the United States ranked second to Great Britain with about 11,000,000 deadweight tons of shipping. We now have more than two-thirds of the world's pre-war tonnage of 74,000,000.

Our new position is a problem as well as a matter of pride. We can, as the British ambassador, Lord Halifax, said in a speech last fall, "turn the economic life of the world into a mad scramble. . . . We can spend some feverish years of jungle life in a cut-throat war of international trade . . . of stealing each other's customers and blackening each other's faces until another Hitler arises to exploit the miseries of the people and multiply them ten-fold by another war."

"On the other hand," Lord Halifax said, "if we can handle these large matters with sufficient foresight, there will be enough on the plate for everybody."

They are large matters, indeed, affecting domestic employment, international relations, world trade and world prosperity. And this country's plan for seeing that there is enough on the plate for everybody has not yet taken concrete form.

But the Maritime Commission has promised that we shall not use our fleet to the detriment of the legitimate needs of other nations whose life blood is international commerce. At the same time, it seems right and necessary that we do not abandon this phase of international leadership which this country has so industriously and courageously earned.

A SONG TO REMEMBER

by Willard Wiener

XIII
The name imprinted in flowering ers on the window in the Rue Rochechouart, said Pleyel et Frederic looked anything but best and Josef Elser looked at Josef, if that were possible, or clothes were travel worn, and as they were burdened with petals and bundles. They had stopped to arrange for lodgings.
They had not even washed. Josef said there would be time that. The dust and dirt of the id could wait. That was nothing as Pleyel was everything. They in Paris and first they must respect to Louis Pleyel.

Frederic held back. He put his in his mouth, to smother a and Josef Elser took his arm, in passed on the door and to-they went in.

Enter side divided the room either side of which were if not the finest in the certainly among the best men. Each carried the name eye.

A middle-aged clerk met them away up the aisle. "Yes, Mes-sieurs?"
"Monsieur Pleyel, please."
The clerk raised his eyebrows.
"Monsieur Pleyel?"

"Yes, Monsieur Pleyel. You will to him, Monsieur, that Professor?"
"Humph. He doesn't even listen." "Professor, don't you think—"

"Tch. Tch. Your music—here is it?"

Frederic had his manuscripts in a bundle. The bundle was his arm. Elser took it hastily. He unwrapped it.

"Fine—excellent." He spread the sheets out on one of the pianos.
He inspected them, one at a time.
"What music! Patience, my boy patience—that's what I always patience. We'll pick out the set—the very best for immediate publication, and we should have let me see, at least a half a dozen."

"What is it you wish to see Monsieur Pleyel about?"
Josef Elser looked up from the manuscripts into the face of a pompous man with very red cheeks.
"Did you ask for Monsieur Pleyel?"

"—asked for no one else!"
Josef Elser adjusted his spectacles to his nose. "You are not Monsieur Pleyel?"

"No."
Josef Elser grinned. "I know
Monsieur Pleyel."
"Thank you, Monsieur. All Paris knows Monsieur Pleyel."
"—Tch. Tch. It wasn't yesterday
I shook his hand. Nevertheless I can tell you, Monsieur, he is still in good warm friend. Who are you?"

"Dupont—Henri Dupont."
"Dupont!" Josef Elser threw his arms. "Ah! Dupont!" Dupont only drew back. "My good friend—Henri Dupont! I am Elser Josef Elser, Frederic, think of we are in Paris—and this is Henri Dupont! Monsieur Dupont—Frederic, Frederic—Monsieur Dupont!"

Josef Elser pulled out his kerchief. He dabbed his face with it.
"Well, is Monsieur Pleyel in?"
He is in, but—
"—Enough! You will tell him—not a word. It will be a surprise! Forgive me, Monsieur; forgive me."

The Professor returned the kerchief to his pocket. He grabbed Frederic's hand and together they were already bustling toward the rear of the room.

"Wait! Will you please wait!"
It was too late. Josef Elser had caught the name Louis Pleyel on a silver nameplate on a polished mahogany door that gave off the main salon.

"Pleyel! How are you!"
The finger, the elegance of the private office went unnoticed. Josef Elser had no eyes nor mind for anything but the person of Louis Pleyel—squat, tight-lipped, narrow-eyed Louis Pleyel.

"My dear friend!" Elser reached across the desk to pump at a spanking rate the limp hand of a startled Louis Pleyel. "Yes—the same Louis—you look wonderful—you do, Louis. How glad—how happy
I am to see you!"

Josef Elser dropped Pleyel's hand. "Louis, I brought him!"
"—You brought—who?"
Josef Elser's jaw shot out. He turned to present Frederic. But there was no one in the room but himself and Louis Pleyel.

"—Frederic!"
Josef Elser's jaw dropped. He stretched his neck. He looked about, then he went to the door and looked outside. "Tch. Tch.
What's the matter with you? Come in!"

Frederic came in, his carpetbag in one hand, his hat in the other, with bundles under both arms.
"—Monsieur Pleyel wants to look at you." Josef Elser pulled Frederic close to Pleyel's desk. "Here he is, Louis. What did I tell you?
As good as my word, Frederic,
open your mouth."

Frederic said: "Monsieur."
"—Tch. Tch. Shake his hand,
Frederic. This is Monsieur Pleyel.
Shake his hand!"

Frederic put down his carpet-bag. He held out his hand. Pleyel reached across the desk to take it but from his puzzled expression it seemed a surprising thing, even to himself, that he should do it.

"Chopin," Frederic said, when it was plain Monsieur Pleyel could not place the name.
Louis Pleyel looked blankly first at one, then the other.

LABORITES FORCE ELECTION

Winston Churchill

Clement Attlee Sir Archibald Sinclair Ernest Brown

WHEN LABORITE MINISTERS rejected Prime Minister Winston Churchill's proposal for extension of the coalition government in Britain until the end of the Japanese war, they forced a general election which is expected to be held July 5. The coalition government, formed in 1940 just before Dunkerque, appeared likely to crumble in the wake of developments. Sir Archibald Sinclair, head of the Liberal party, said his group doubted the wisdom of prolonging the present Parliament and would prefer an election in late autumn but would be willing to discuss "the possibility of preserving the government under your (Churchill's) leadership until the end of the Jap war." Ernest Brown, leader of the Liberal National party, expressed the unqualified support of Churchill. Clement Attlee, Laborite deputy prime minister, said that it would not be "either right or possible" to extend the present Parliament. The Labor party is in national convention at Blackpool, England. (International)

Flashes Of Life

A MISS IS AS GOOD AS A MILE—OR BETTER

WITH THE RCAF OVERSEAS—Martin Pederson of Hawarden, Sas-katchewan, Canada, attacked a German railway freight yard with his rocket-firing Typhoon, seeking eight locomotives, and got a lucky break.

"I flew low to attack eight loco-motives and shoot up the main line," he said. "I let loose two rockets. They overshoot a bit and hit a 100-foot chimney."

"It toppled over, crushing the locomotives and blocking the rail-road."

IT IS LATER THAN YOU THINK, THEY HOPE

JOLIET, Ill.—A sign painted on a wall of a war work shop in the Stateville penitentiary reads: "Every Minute Counts." Under it, in the longhand scrawl of an inmate, is this footnote: "Let's hope so!"

PAID IN FULL

CHICAGO—The Edgcomb hotel officials could contain their curios-ity no longer. They finally opened a trunk that had been held for an unpaid bill for nine years. They found 13 boxes of shells and tear gas bombs.

BACK TO SCHOOL

BATH, England—Mrs. Elsie Shields, 24, was given a suspended sentence for three years for neglect-ing her four-year-old daughter and instructed to attend a Salvation Army motherhood course.

HE WAS JUST OUT ON A $10 TEAR

CHICAGO—John Paul, a mag-ician who seems to rend and re-pair currency before your very eyes, and Pinky Tracy, a comedian, en-tertained a country club audience. After their routines were over, a guest who had confused the two performers approached Tracy, pro-duced a $10 bill and asked him to tear it up. The comic obliged, handed back the pieces and ex-plaind he had no idea how to put them back together again.

Gold Stars Both Wars

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—Mrs. Jose-phine Mermet holds the unusual distinction of being a gold star mother of both World War I and World War II. Son Arthur was killed in France in 1918. Son Leon was killed in Italy recently.

To raise money to assist returning veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will observe their annual "Buddy Poppy" day in Salem Saturday. Fred Snyder, chairman of the poppy committee, announced today.

Post No. 892 will conduct the sale on the streets in the customary fashion to raise funds for the post's returning veteran fund. Money also goes to aid the injured men coming back, widows of soldiers and others needing aid.

The organization's women's auxiliary will assist in the sale.

The paper window used extensively in the Orient admit 40 per cent of the sun's ultra-violet light, all of which is stopped by glass.

Your washing machine should be cleaned thoroughly after each use.

A greasy stain is usually best cleaned with a grease solvent.

DIRT-DEFYING WHITE

Postwar dream of white that can defy dirt comes true ahead of time in summer—1945 hats and bags that can be kept snowy as wedding cake icing with washing.

Thanks to plastic, the wonder yarn which has been released to make accessories you can indulge your desire for white and be as practical as the girl with a black bonnet and bag.

Plexon, one of the new plastics which makes stylized hats and bags—and promises to revolutionize postwar textiles—is used to coat cotton, rayon, fiber glass and silk yarns with a fine film of white, or 120 colors. Typical style trick it performs is the hand-crocheted plastic hat and band-box handbag at the left.

At the right is an underarm style bag designed by Jenny, who shows what can be done with another type of washable plastic which is non-crackable and looks like leather. Carrying out the smart white note is the daisy-trimmed postilion with matching bracelet.

• SO THEY SAY

It is fine to have an ATC base on the Jay coast, but it will be much better when we fly right in through the doorway. That we will go.

—Brig-Gen. Thomas Hardin, commanding general of Air Transport Command's Central Pacific Wing.

I was lucky to be picked up by German tank gunners. Some of the other fellows who were captured by civilians were tortured and killed.

—U. S. Air Ace Lt.-Col. Francis S. Gabreski.

If our victory in Europe is to breed security and order and peace, some portion of things we produce in the United States must be shared with the people we have liberated.

Make-Up, Hair Should Harmonize

By ALICIA HART

If you tamper with the color of your hair—either to lighten it to whop up glory or darken it to cover up a flock of tell-tale grays—do as much for your skin as you make-up in order to preserve the harmonies between the two. Otherwise, you'll have harsh contrasts which will be aging to your face or will advertise your secret to the world.

With a touch of artificially brightened hair—golden, ale-colored or red—use a make-up lightened the same number of degrees as your locks.

Gray hair dyed back to its original color, on the other hand, needs to have a companion make-up which is a couple of shades darker than the natural skin tone.

Where eyebrows grow gray along with hair, darkening them to match the new shade of your locks is necessary, if you want to keep your color dodge a closely guarded secret.

Poor Digestion? ☐ Headachy? ☐ Sour or Upset? ☐ Tired-Listless? ☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better. Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢.

42 GET DIPLOMAS AT LEETONIA HIGH

LEETONIA, May 23.—The 63rd annual commencement of Leetonia High school was held in the school auditorium Tuesday evening for 42 graduates, eight of whom are in the service.

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Zsalmia, played and the school choir sang "The Lord's Prayer".

A. D. Ladd, principal of Garfield High school, Akron, spoke on the "Highways Are Marked".

L. F. Davis, president of the board of education, awarded the diplomas.

Georgeanna Beaver was first honor student and Margaret Rankin was second. Others on the honor roll are Rudie Ashman, Barbara Barrickman, Joseph, Bernard, Louis DeLucia, John Donley, Margaret Perry, Wilma Fire, Shirley Holt, Helen Poulos, Shirley Rouse and Dean Festal.

Joseph Jeswald was president of the class; James Bellhart, vice-president; Wilma Fire, secretary; Georgeanna Beaver, treasurer, and Miss Vera Chamberlain, sponsor. Class motto was "Do It Well or Not at All." Class colors—Blue and Gold, and class flower, yellow tea rose.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church was entertained by Mrs. Howard Nahar Tuesday evening with Mrs. Edward Morris and Mrs. Elby Morris associate hostesses.

Mrs. Frank Thorndell will entertain the South Side Sewing club Thursday evening.

Veterans of Foreign Wars To Sell Poppies Saturday

To raise money to assist returning veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will observe their annual "Buddy Poppy" day in Salem Saturday. Fred Snyder, chairman of the poppy committee, announced today.

Post No. 892 will conduct the sale on the streets in the customary fashion to raise funds for the post's returning veteran fund. Money also goes to aid the injured men coming back, widows of soldiers and others needing aid.

The organization's women's auxiliary will assist in the sale.

The paper window used extensively in the Orient admit 40 per cent of the sun's ultra-violet light, all of which is stopped by glass.

Your washing machine should be cleaned thoroughly after each use.

A greasy stain is usually best cleaned with a grease solvent.

DIRT-DEFYING WHITE

Postwar dream of white that can defy dirt comes true ahead of time in summer—1945 hats and bags that can be kept snowy as wedding cake icing with washing.

Thanks to plastic, the wonder yarn which has been released to make accessories, you can indulge your desire for white and be as practical as the girl with a black bonnet and bag.

Plexon, one of the new plastics which makes stylized hats and bags—and promises to revolutionize postwar textiles—is used to coat cotton, rayon, fiber glass and silk yarns with a fine film of white, or 120 colors. Typical style trick it performs is the hand-crocheted plastic hat and band-box handbag at the left.

At the right is an underarm style bag designed by Jenny, who shows what can be done with another type of washable plastic which is non-crackable and looks like leather. Carrying out the smart white note is the daisy-trimmed postilion with matching bracelet.

Make-Up, Hair Should Harmonize

By ALICIA HART

If you tamper with the color of your hair—either to lighten it and whoop up glory or darken it to cover up a flock of tell-tale grays—do as much for your skin with make-up in order to preserve the harmonies between the two. Otherwise, you'll have harsh contrasts which will be aging to your face or will advertise your secret to the world.

With a tatch of artificially brightened hair—golden, ale-colored or red—use a make-up which is the same number of degrees as your looks.

Gray hair dyed back to its original color, on the other hand, needs to have a companion make-up which is a couple of shades darker than the natural skin tone.

Where eyebrows grow gray along with hair, darkening them to match the new shade of your locks is necessary, if you want to keep your color dodge a closely guarded secret.

Poor Digestion? Headachy? Sour or Upset? Tired-Listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25c.

7th WAR LOAN

The Biggest Drive in America's History*

Why YOU—everybody—must do more than ever before

YES, this is by far the greatest people's drive in America's history... because never before has the need been so great.

In all theaters of war more than eleven million of our fighting men must be fed, clothed, sheltered, armed. And the medical needs are at a staggering, all-time high.

In the Pacific, as our fighting forces push on toward Tokyo, the demand for more and more supplies becomes greater. That means all America must pour out its might in the MIGHTY 7TH WAR LOAN.

IT'S 2 GREAT WAR LOANS IN ONE!

By this time last year you were twice called upon to buy extra War Bonds. This is the first time your country has called upon you in 1945. That's why this is really two great war loans in one.

Study the chart on this page. See what your country expects you to do in the 7th War Loan. Seven billion dollars must be raised from individuals alone. That's why this is the People's Loan. Remember, you are part of America—a part of America's might! Pour out your might in the mighty 7th War Loan... for yourself... for your country... for Victory!

Yankee Twilight Game Fails To Attract Good Bronx Fans

ONLY BRIGHT SPOT PITCHER BOROWY'S JOB

Yanks Win 3-0 After Hank Hurls Shutout Ball for Five Innings

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe McCarthy's New York Yankees get their first peek at the league-leading Chicago White Sox today but it's bound to be a let-down after the first twilight game in the Bronx and in which the Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

The house that Ruth built and MacPhail bought opened its doors at 5:45 p. m. last gloom to a paid attendance of only 6,622 for the first of a series of Larry MacPhail experiments.

Those in the know claimed the MacPhail influence at last was to be felt in the haunts of the conservative New York club that always looked down its nose at night baseball and show boat innovations.

Storm clouds twice forced the umpires to halt the game. The second time, just after the legal five innings had been played, Coach Al Simmons of the A's argued so strongly with Ump Art Passarella that it should have been called earlier he was run out of the park.

Throws Shutout
Only bright part in the Yank picture was the shutout spun by Hank Borowy and Jim Turner. Borowy, troubled recently by a sore arm, developed a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand in the seventh and had to yield in the midst of a four-hitter. Turner, for the seventh time this year, sparked in relief but the victory went to Fordham Hank, his sixth.

Rookie Catcher Herb Crompton, called into action despite a .135 average because of Mike Garbark's hitting slump, drove home all the Yank scores with a brace of singles. It was his biggest hitting day in the majors. Steve Gerkin, an Army dischargee, was Connie Mack's loser.

All other clubs were unshuffled, either playing exhibitions or traveling preparatory to opening the second interseasonal series of the season.

Name New Arena Head
CLEVELAND, May 23.—Appointment of Lewis Mumaw, former road secretary of the Cleveland baseball club, as General Manager of the Arena, local sports center, was announced yesterday by Arena President Al Sutphin.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 23.—When the Army's special services division recently discovered a manufacturer who had not only the material but the manpower to produce 75,000 deep sea fishing units, a hurry call went to the Bowlers Victory Legion. It took only a couple of minutes for E. V. Director Arville L. Ebersole to write a check for $65,000 and by June 15 the equipment will be ready for distribution to soldiers in the Pacific, who have been holding for fishing tackle even longer than the civilians, who couldn't get to a good fishing spot if he had it. Bummy (Boggy) Al Davis has had 14 fights in Madison Square Garden and all of his four defeats there came at the hands of champions or ex-champions. New York Mirror's headline on the return of Jimmie racing: "Three R's return — B-reeding, Riding, 'Rithmetic."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Tommy Fitzgerald, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Boo Ferris, the Red-hot Rookie, has pitched three shutouts in four games for the Boston Red Sox. Despite 41 postponements because of bad weather, it seems to be occasionally Ferris and warmer in the American League."

PENALTY, STROKE AND DISTANCE

A poke in the puss by any other name hurts just as much, but George Getchell of Englewood, N. J., points out that his brother John, famous Midwestern football referee who died recently, knew the difference between a poke and a shove. Getchell notes that Stories about the 1936 Northwestern-Minnesota game said John had penalized Ed Wideth for "slugging." Actually the penalty was 15 yards for "illegal use of hands" instead of the slugging penalty, which would have been half the distance to the goal, or only eight yards. Wideth, he adds, kicked on the decision and wanted it to be called "slugging."

Bucks Take Bishops

DELAWARE, May 23.—Ohio State University's baseball team defeated Ohio Wesleyan, 6 to 2, yesterday. Lynn Biegler smashed a home run with one on for the Bucks.

FIGHT RESULTS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — Billy Cooper, 168½, Cleveland, outpointed Ted Gordon, 171½, New York 6.

'Kendo?' 'Yep, Can Do'

The two "Knights" above are not members of Arthur's roundtable, but they are from an equally-famous fighting unit—Uncle Sam's Seabees. Roy B. Childs (left), of Alameda, Calif., and Harry F. Wright, of St. Clairsville, O., found a Jap manual and equipment on two Jims explaining the game of "Kendo," and promptly tried their hand at the sport. They didn't master the game, but were satisfied it called for "whaling the daylight out of each other"—which is all it takes to be popular with the Seabees. (NEA Telephoto)

How Voisselle Fogs 'Em in for Giants

It takes more than hitting to make a contender and Bill Voisselle, young right-hander, is the hurler who helps keep New York Giants in National League lead. He leads all major flingers with eight won, none lost, Voisselle shows four stages of his delivery: Sizing up batsman, cranking for the pitch, the big kick which gives him momentum and, finally, the follow-through.

Peacetime Uses of Sound Recorders, A Boon To Army, Navy, Will Be Endless

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, May 23.—Some day, instead of saying, "let's get that in writing," you'll be remarking casually, "let's make a recording of that." And it will be as simple as reaching in your pocket for a handkerchief.

With a pocket-sized wire recorder it will be a simple matter to preserve an interesting dinner conversation or a verbal business agreement.

Wire recorders aren't brand new, but they're new to the average civilian. The Army and Navy absorb almost entirely the limited output now, because they have discovered that these sturdy little recorders aren't affected by vibration or motion or position, and a continuous recording of hours can be made.

Marvin Camrus, a Chicago-born lad, started tinkering with the idea of a wire recorder back in 1939, when he was the top-ranking student in electrical engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology. He took his original model, a crude affair, to the Armour Research Foundation in Chicago.

Development Cost $60,000
"I saw that the young man was a genius," Vagborg recalled. Camrus was put on the staff, and the Armour foundation spent $60,000 developing his idea. Dr. George Ziegler, now on the staff of the midwest institute, was placed in charge of the research.

The recorder Ziegler now exhibits is only slightly larger than a typewriter. The recording is made upon a strand of wire nearly as fine as human hair, which is wound on a spool. It requires no processing before playback.

The recording is good for the life of the wire. If the wire breaks, merely tie a knot in it, and a slight click will be the only noticeable change.

Its possibilities are limitless—for personal, business and educational uses. The recent invention of the pocket-sized edition, also credited to Camrus, adds even more to its wonders.

A few years after the war, Dr. Ziegler predicted, nearly all new radios will have a built-in wire recording apparatus. Any time a listener wants to transcribe a radio program, it will require only the snapping of a switch to start the wire turning on the spool. Not only that, but the radios will have electric "alarm clocks" built in so recordings can be made when there is no one around to turn on the radio.

If you're going to be away for the evening and don't want to miss your favorite program—just set the timing device on the clock for the proper hour and your program will be waiting for you when you return.

Just Wipe It Off

If you wish to erase the sound on the wire, a turn of a switch will wipe it off, and the wire can be used again. Any portion of a record can be erased or altered without harm to the adjacent portions.

In the last three years licenses to manufacture the machine have been granted to a dozen companies, and many others have applied. A few broadcasting stations have obtained the recorders, but Dr. Ziegler believes it will be a year, or perhaps two, before wire recorders are on the market in volume.

"A few years from now," Dr. Ziegler remarked, "when you're riding along in your car you can pull out a wire recording of your favorite symphony and insert it into the radio." Motor car radios also will be equipped with a reproducing facilities.

The recorder will add about $50 to the cost of a good radio, Dr. Ziegler estimates. He is certain that someday wire recorders will be as common as electric refrigerators in the American home.

NATION WIDE BOOM IN BOXING STILL GOING FULL FORCE

Associated Press Survey Reveals Biggest Crowds In Many Years

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, May 23.—The nation-wide boom in the boxing business continues unabated, a survey by the Associated Press showed today, although promoters generally do not expect much additional talent to become available despite Germany's surrender.

Some promoters expressed the opinion that several top rated fighters may soon be discharged from the armed services, but until then all agreed that they would continue to put on bouts using, as in the past, whatever talent is available. That apparently is sufficient for the paying customers. Shows all over the country have reported their biggest gross dates in years. For instance, New Orleans reported receipts of $17,279, the largest in 15 years, for the Bernard Docuena-Lulu Costantino fight Monday night.

V-J Day The Best

With the outdoor season just ahead the outlook is even more favorable.

An indication of the trend is seen in the $100,000 "house" promoter Mike Jacobs expects for the Rocky Graziano-Bummy Davis fight when the sock game returns to Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"Until V-J day," Uncle Mike said, "We're going along just as before trying to arrange the best bouts we can."

Comments by other promoters included: Bob Brickman, Cleveland—"V-E day didn't mean a thing to boxing. V-J day will be the day. There should be some promising talent from the boys who have participated in the overseas service tours. Bob Pastor's discharge should help a lot unless he doesn't plan to return to the ring."

Yankee Twilight Game Fails To Attract Good Bronx Fans

ONLY BRIGHT SPOT PITCHER BOROWY'S JOB

Yanks Win 3-0 After Hank Hurls Shutout Ball for Five Innings

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe McCarthy's New York Yankees get their first peek at the league-leading Chicago White Sox today but it's bound to be a let-down after the first twilight game in the Bronx and in which the Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0.

The house that Ruth built and MacPhail bought opened its doors at 5:45 p. m. last gloaming to a paid attendance of only 6,622 for the first of a series of Larry MacPhail experiments.

Those in the know claimed the MacPhail influence at last was to be felt in the haunts of the conservative New York club that always looked down its nose at night baseball and show boat innovations.

Storm clouds twice forced the umpires to halt the game. The second time, just after the legal five innings had been played, Coach Al Simmons of the A's argued so strongly with Ump Art Passarella that it should have been called earlier he was run out of the park.

Throws Shutout
Only bright part in the Yank picture was the shutout spun by Hank Borowy and Jim Turner. Borowy, troubled recently by a sore arm, developed a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand in the seventh and had to yield in the midst of a four-hitter. Turner, for the seventh time this year, sparked in relief but the victory went to Fordham Hank, his sixth.

Rookie Catcher Herb Crompton, called into action despite a .135 average because of Mike Garbar's hitting slump, drove home all the Yank scores with a brace of singles. It was his biggest hitting day in the majors. Steve Gerkin, an Army dischargee, was Connie Mack's loser.

All other clubs were unscheduled, either playing exhibitions or traveling preparatory to opening the second interseasonal series of the season.

Name New Arena Head
CLEVELAND, May 23—Appointment of Lewis Mumaw, former road secretary of the Cleveland baseball club, as General Manager of the Arena, local sports center, was announced yesterday by Arena President Al Eutphin.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Tommy Fitzgerald, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Bon Ferris, the Redhot Rookie, has pitched three shutouts in four games for the Boston Red Sox. Despite 41 postponements because of bad weather, it seems to be occasionally Ferris and warmer in the American league."

PENALTY, STROKE AND DISTANCE

A poke in the puss by any other name hurts just as much, but George Getchell of Englewood, N. J., points out that his brother John, famous Midwestern football referee who died recently, knew the difference between a poke and a shove.... Getchell notes that Stories about the 1935 Northwestern-Minnesota game said John had penalized Ed Widseth for "slugging".... Actually the penalty was 15 yards for "illegal use of hands" instead of the slugging penalty, which would have been half the distance to the goal, or only eight yards.... Widseth, he adds, kicked on the decision and wanted it to be called "slugging."

Bucks Take Bishops

DELAWARE, May 23—Ohio State university's baseball team defeated Ohio Wesleyan, 6 to 2, yesterday. Lynn Biegler smashed a home run with one on for the Bucks.

FIGHT RESULTS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — Billy Cooper, 168½, Cleveland, outpointed Ted Gordon, 171½, New York 6.

'Kendo?' 'Yep, Can Do'

The two "Knights" above are not members of Arthur's roundtable, but they are from an equally-famous fighting unit—Uncle Sam's Seabees. Roy B. Childs (left), of Alameda, Calif., and Harry F. Wright, of St. Clairsville, O., found a Jap manual and equipment on two Japs explaining the game of "Kendo," and promptly tried their hand at the sport. They didn't master the game, but were satisfied it called for "whaling the daylight out of each other"—which is all it takes to be popular with the Seabees. (NEA Telephoto)

How Voiselle Fogs 'Em in for Giants

It takes more than hitting to make a contender and Bill Voiselle, young righthander, is the hurler who helps keep New York Giants in National League lead. He leads all major fingers with eight won, none lost, Voiselle shows four stages of his delivery: Sizing up batsman, cranking for the pitch, the big kick which gives him momentum and, finally, the follow-through.

Peacetime Uses of Sound Recorders, A Boon To Army, Navy, Will Be Endless

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, May 23.—Some day, instead of saying, "let's get that in writing," you'll be remarking casually, "let's make a recording of that." And it will be as simple as reaching in your pocket for a handkerchief.

With a pocket-sized wire recorder it will be a simple matter to preserve an interesting dinner conversation or a verbal business agreement.

Wire recorders aren't brand new, but they're new to the average civilian. The Army and Navy absorb almost entirely the limited output now, because they have discovered that these sturdy little recorders aren't affected by vibration or motion or position, and a continuous recording of hours can be made.

Marvin Camrus, a Chicago-born lad, started tinkering with the idea of a wire recorder back in 1939, when he was the top-ranking student in electrical engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology. He took his original model, a crude affair, to the Armour Research Foundation in Chicago. Harold Vagtborg, president of the Midwest Research Institute in Kansas City, was then director of the Armour foundation.

Development cost $60,000. "I saw that the young man was a genius," Vagtborg recalled. Camrus was put on the staff, and the Armour foundation spent $60,000 developing his idea. Dr. George Ziegler, now on the staff of the Midwest Institute, was placed in charge of the research.

The recorder Ziegler now exhibits is only slightly larger than a typewriter. The recording is made upon a strand of wire nearly as fine as human hair, which is wound on a spool. It requires no processing before playback.

The recording is good for the life of the wire. If the wire breaks, merely tie a knot in it, and a slight click will be the only noticeable change.

Its possibilities are limitless—for personal, business and educational uses. The recent invention of the pocket-sized edition, also credited to Camrus, adds even more to its wonders.

A few years after the war, Dr. Ziegler predicted, nearly all new radios will have a built-in wire recording apparatus. Any time a listener wants to transcribe a radio program, it will require only the snapping of a switch to start the wire turning on the spool. Not only that, but the radios will have electric "alarm clocks" built in so recordings can be made when there is no one around to turn on the radio.

If you're going to be away for the evening and don't want to miss your favorite program—just set the timing device on the clock for the proper hour and your program will be waiting for you when you return.

Just Wipe It Off

If you wish to erase the sound on the wire, a turn of a switch will "wipe it off," and the wire can be used again. Any portion of a record can be erased or altered without harm to the adjacent portions.

In the last three years licenses to manufacture the machine have been granted to a dozen companies, and many others have applied. A few broadcasting stations have obtained the recorders, but Dr. Ziegler believes it will be a year, or perhaps two, before wire recorders are on the market in volume.

"A few years from now," Dr. Ziegler remarked, "when you're riding along in your car you can pull out a wire recording of your favorite symphony and insert it into the radio." Motor car radios also will be equipped with a reproducing facilities.

The recorder will add about $50 to the cost of a good radio, Dr. Ziegler estimates. He is certain that someday wire recorders will be as common as electric refrigerators in the American home.

BALLOONS AIMED AT AMERICA BY DESPERATE JAPS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Japan, gradually being blasted to bits by Superfortresses, is striking back at the United States with bombs hitched to big, free-flying paper balloons.

So far sporadic attacks during the past several months have not caused any property damage, and in no sense are the balloons considered a "military threat."

The Army and Navy so said late yesterday.

It was the first public disclosure that the unmanned balloons—waited perhaps from submarines or the Japanese homeland—are hitting North America, aimlessly. The attacks have been on open secret with many newspapermen and to hundreds of residents in the western part of the country.

The wraps were taken off the story because the two services thought the public should be warned about the potential danger of unexploded bombs dropped by the balloons.

Emphasizing there is no need for alarm, the services said they felt saving even one American life through precautionary measures would more than balance any benefit the Japanese might get from learning that the balloons have reached North America.

The enemy would like to learn specific details as to the points at which the balloons landed and the effect they have had, the Army and Navy added, but they have no intention of letting the Japanese find out.

"Such information would permit him to evaluate the results of his fantastic effort and possibly correct his methods," the joint statement said.

About 33 feet in diameter, the balloons are made of gray, white or greenish blue paper. They cannot be controlled.

The chances that any given place in this country might be hit, the Army and Navy said, "is only one in many millions."

The bombs, suspended beneath the paper bags, apparently are designed to set fires. No fires have been started so far.

7 More Slaughterers Face OPA Accusations

CLEVELAND, May 23.—The Office of Price Administration cited seven northern Ohio slaughterers yesterday for failure to keep records and otherwise abide by regulations.

Named in the OPA petitions were: Edward Yakiel, Warren; Peter Barta, Youngstown; Hughes Packing Co., Oberlin; Mike Bort, Columbus; Christ PaPas, Campbell; D. A. Bacon, New Springfield; William Rowlands, Hubbard.

New Summer White House 'Dressed Up'

Homes, like people, need something new in springtime, and President Truman's home on North Delaware street, Independence, Mo., is no exception. Typically Victorian, the large frame house, which will serve as the nation's new summer White House, is given a new "face" by a crew of roofers, carpenters and painters. (NEA Telephoto)

Yanks Are Normal When Battleground Is Muddy

(By Associated Press)

YONABARU, Okinawa, May 22.—(Delayed)—Seventh division troops poured through Yonabaru in a cold drizzling rain today to seize dominating hills on the east coast of Okinawa and pose a new threat to the central Japanese fortress city of Shuri.

Late today, 7th division troops were running into machinegun and antitank fire from a 500-foot escarpment 1,000 yards directly in front of their position on a 400-foot hill.

The men fanned out over ridges, cleaning out caves in the morning and afternoon.

As the doughboys sloshed along, chilled by the cold rain, one of them, Pfc. Jim Lowe, East Liverpool, O., grumbled and shouted:

"Everything normal. The 7th is moving up in rain and mud again."

Akron Slayer Indicted

*AKRON, May 23.—A Summit county grand jury yesterday indicted Charles Stewart, 30, of Akron, on charges of first degree murder while committing rape and while committing robbery in connection with the slaying last Friday of Mrs. Mabel M. Baxendale.

With District Men In The Service

Seaman Peppel

Forrest Peppel, SM 3/c, 19, son of D. S. Peppel, R. D. 2, Salem and Mrs. R. E. Knepper of Leontonia, is one of the survivors of the ill-fated Carrier Franklin, which was nearly sunk by a lone Japanese plane near the Jap mainland in March. He is now spending a 30-day rehabilitation leave with relatives and friends here.

Discharged from the army at Camp Atterbury, Ind., yesterday were:

Staff Sgt. George Arneto of Lisbon.

Pfc. Lester S. Sutherin of East Palestine.

Pfc. Norman Reese of Alliance.

The War Today

the most colorful figure in England's political life and has the rugged personality which to the average Briton typifies John Bull. His move in forcing a quick election is shrewd, for the argument that he is needed in office for war leadership is powerful.

As to whether there has been any change in England's political thought, there is no doubt that there has been. Only question is how great the change has been. I have spent most time in Britain, and when I was last there in the fall of 1942 it was evident the country was moving "left."

By "left" I don't mean it was tending towards Communism but that it had in considerable degree turned from extreme conservatism. One of the leaders of this tendency with whom I talked was the famous Dr. William Temple, archbishop of Canterbury (now dead) who got himself called "radical" by the Tories for his pains.

About 33 feet in diameter, the balloons are made of gray, white or greenish blue paper. They cannot be controlled.

The chances that any given place in this country might be hit, the Army and Navy said, "is only one in many millions."

The bombs, suspended beneath the paper bags, apparently are designed to set fires. No fires have been started so far.

7 More Slaughterers Face OPA Accusations

CLEVELAND, May 23.—The Office of Price Administration cited seven northern Ohio slaughterers yesterday for failure to keep records and otherwise abide by regulations.

Named in the OPA petitions were: Edward Yakel, Warren; Peter Barta, Youngstown; Hughes Packing Co., Oberlin; Mike Bort, Columbiana; Christ PePas, Campbell; D. A. Bacon, New Springfield; William Rowlands, Hubbard.

New Summer White House 'Dressed Up'

Homes, like people, need something new in springtime, and President Truman's home on North Delaware street, Independence, Mo., is no exception. Typically Victorian, the large frame house, which will serve as the nation's new summer White House, is given a new "face" by a crew of roofers, carpenters and painters. (NEA Telephone)

Yanks Are Normal When Battleground Is Muddy

(By Associated Press)

YONABARU, Okinawa, May 22.—(Delayed)—Seventh division troops poured through Yonabaru in a cold drizzling rain today to seize dominating hills on the east coast of Okinawa and pose a new threat to the central Japanese fortress city of Shuri.

Late today, 7th division troops were running into machinegun and antitank fire from a 500-foot escarpment 1,000 yards directly in front of their position on a 400-foot hill.

The men fanned out over ridges, cleaning out caves in the morning and afternoon.

As the doughboys sloshed along, chilled by the cold rain, one of them, Pfc. Jim Lowe, East Liverpool, O., grinned and shouted: "Everything normal. The 7th is moving up in rain and mud again."

Akron Slayer Indicted

AKRON, May 23.—A Summit county grand jury yesterday indicted Charles Stewart, 30, of Akron, on charges of first degree murder while committing rape and while committing robbery in connection with the slaying last Friday of Mrs. Mabel M. Baxendale.

The War Today

the most colorful figure in England's political life and has the rugged personality which to the average Briton typifies John Bull. His move in forcing a quick election is shrewd, for the argument that he is needed in office for war leadership is powerful.

As to whether there has been any change in England's political thought, there is no doubt that there has been. Only question is how great the change has been. I have spent most time in Britain, and when I was last there in the fall of 1942 it was evident the country was moving "left." By "left" I don't mean it was tending towards Communism, but that it had in considerable degree turned from extreme conservatism. One of the leaders of this tendency with whom I talked was the famous Dr. William Temple, archbishop of Canterbury (now dead) who got himself called "radical" by the Tories for his pains.

Five More County Men Liberated From Prison

EAST LIVERPOOL, May 23.—Five more Columbiana county servicemen have been freed from Nazi prison camps, relatives were advised today.

They are Pfc. Lloyd G. Foster, 26, and Pfc. Charles W. Caton of this city; Staff Sgt. Paul F. Pugh, 20, of nearby Calcutta; Corp. Ray J. Ward, 34, of Wellsville, and Pvt. Albert McCoy of Clarkson.
